Personal information

I am 27. I am not afraid of new tasks. As a freelancer I have taken jobs I didn't quite know how to make them at start, but it allowed me to develop myself as a programmer. I know I must learn new things everyday, that's why the moment has come to leave the way of lonewolf and try something bigger. I'm usually trying to do minor projects in different programming languages, starting from web applications and ending with Raspberry Pi projects.
